The 2021 Heerkretz is still youthfully closed (as of June 2022). Those who wish to drink it in the near future need time and a large glass. The first impression is reductive. Slowly, aromas of gages, lemon, bergamot, sea buckthorn, cool exotic notes like fresh ginger and guava, and spicy ones like fenugreek, emerge. There are also aromas of flint, ash and sea salt. The Heerkretz builds up a lot of pressure on the palate. When vinified dry, all the brilliance of its saltiness, spice, bite and precise fruit shows perfectly. The wine is powerful, savory, stringent, and elegantly boasts plenty of power. It is a complex Riesling that will benefit from bottle aging.

If you want to drink the wine young, you can play with the citrus freshness and enjoy it with lemon salmon pasta with fresh peas or with a corn poularde provençale. With a little maturity, it will be a perfect partner to red mullet with bouillabaisse broth or veal chops with a herb crust.

Now until 2028 and longer

Classic white wine glass; when wine is still young, use a Burgundy glass.
