Although rosé mainly stands for summer indulgence, it has also been a serious, sophisticated wine for quite some time. And the latter is exactly how we class our Rosé Eins. This cuvée has a fresh and fragrant nose of sour cherry and pomegranate with a hint of rhubarb and blonde tobacco. On the palate this rosé offers a wonderful balance of silky texture, grip and crisp fruit extending into the long finale.

Its delicate texture and finesse pair well with burrata with coriander seeds. We like to enjoy that together with smoked salmon trout with a little lemon-tomato marmalade and shrimps from the German North Sea.
